Sedin, Kesler hopefuls for NHL hardware

AWARDS The Vancouver Canucks will send two of the NHL's best players to Las Vegas tonight for the league's annual awards show.

Henrik Sedin has already won the Art Ross trophy as the NHL's leading scorer, now he'll try to add the Hart trophy to his hardware. If he does, he will be the first Vancouver Canuck to win the prestigious award. He is also up for the Ted Lindsay award that goes to the most outstanding player as voted by his peers. The last Canuck to win that was Markus Naslund in the 2002-03 season.

Meanwhile, Ryan Kesler is nominated for the Selke Trophy. This is the second year in a row he has been nominated as one of the league's best defensive forwards.

Beluga Aurora watches her new calf Nala at the Vancouver Aquarium earlier this year. Nala died Monday evening from complications after debris got caught in an unusual airway pocket.

Baby beluga Nala dies

Year-old calf's infection took unexpected turn for the worse

LINA TOYODA

The Vancouver Aquarium's youngest and beloved beluga calf Nala died suddenly at 10:15 p.m. on Monday of a bizarre complication from a respiratory infection brought on by two rocks and a penny.

"A strange finding, one I certainly did not suspect," said a solemn Dr. Martin Haulena, staff veterinarian at the aquarium. "One that unfortunately, even in hindsight — although we could have probably diagnosed by X-ray — I'm still racking my brain to try and figure out what we could've done about it."

Results from the post-mortem examination revealed that one-year-old Nala had an unusual growth or "pocket" off her airway containing three items — two marble-sized rocks and a penny.

Haulena explained that while small debris getting "inhaled" is quite normal — as young whales often like to play with found objects even in the wild — they are usually just cleared out of the blowhole.

However, the objects remained trapped in Nala's unknown "pocket," causing infection and swelling, which lead to an obstruction to the airway and accumulation of fluid in her lungs, ultimately causing her death.

Nala was born last June to Aurora.

"Very sad, very tragic, and a very long night. A very upsetting day for us here at Vancouver Aquarium," said Haulena.

Nala had a bout of illness for about two weeks and was receiving antibiotics, anti-inflammatory medication and fluids.

Haulena said she was responding well and he was very happy with her progress until she took a turn for the worse on Monday.

Family of whales

- Dr. Haulena says he's working with pathologists and colleagues around the world and notes that Nala's growth is the first to be found in a whale.
- Other belugas at the Vancouver Aquarium:

Qila is Nala's half-sister, born at the aquarium on July 23, 1995.

Tiqa is Nala's half-sister born June 10, 2008.

Aurora is Qila and Nala's mother and arrived at the aquarium in 1990.

Tuvaq, Aurora's second calf, was born in 2002 but died suddenly in 2005.

Sergeant, supervisor on Surrey 6 investigation suspended

PROBE Two more police officers working on the Surrey-Six homicide have been suspended surrounding allegations that one of the investigators, a sergeant, had an inappropriate relationship with a witness in the ongoing investigation.

In February, the RCMP announced the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) were conducting an external probe into the sergeant's behaviour.

The investigation was later expanded to include the sergeant's supervisor and a co-worker. The new allegations against the two were not disclosed, but do not involve an inappropriate relationship with the witness, said RCMP Sgt. Peter Thiessen in a release yesterday.

The sergeant and the supervisor have both been suspended, bringing to four the number of RCMP officers who are being investigated for alleged misconduct in the high-profile case.

In January, another officer was charged with allegedly submitting fraudulent overtime claims.

In October 2007, six men were killed in an apparent drug hit at the Balmoral Towers in Surrey.

Among those murdered were innocent victims Chris Mohan and Ed Schellenberg.

Man's cause of death still unknown after autopsy

KYLE FARQUHARSON
for Metro Vancouver

INVESTIGATION An autopsy has shone no light on what caused the death of a man found in the trunk of a car in Burnaby on Saturday, said police yesterday.

"A lot was learned at the autopsy," said Cpl. Dale Carr of the Integrated Homicide Investigation Team, despite the continued uncertainty as to a cause of death. A number of samples have been sent to the lab for analysis, with results pending for investigators and the B.C. Coroners' Service, he added.

At the request of the decedent's family, his identity has not been released.

The death is being treated as suspicious, though police said to this point the investigation has revealed no connection between the deceased and organized crime.

Celebration a time for aboriginal AIDS awareness

FIRST NATIONS Aboriginal Awareness Week was celebrated at the Dr. Peter AIDS Foundation yesterday with distinguished guests and a traditional aboriginal feast.

According to the Public Health Agency of Canada, aboriginal people are disproportionately affected by HIV/AIDS. Almost 50 per cent of residents at the Dr. Peter Centre are of aboriginal descent.

Charles Abel Thompson, one of the centre's residents, spoke of his experience discovering he was HIV-positive.

"It led me to almost committing suicide the night after I talked it over with my doctor," Thompson said.

"If you have that communicable disease, it's a no-turning-back kind of thing. (But) hanging around with elders made me feel good, like a family, and they helped me through it."

Chief Bobby Joseph talked about some of the ongoing struggles that First Nation communities face.

"It's the alcohol abuse and sharing of needles. On the reservation there is little hope," Joseph said.

PNE concert series a blast from the past

Huey Lewis and the News, Cindi Lauper, the Beach Boys, and Wayne Newton will be among the performers featured at Empire Stadium, PNE president and CEO Michael McDaniel announced yesterday.

The concert series is a large part of the exhibition's centennial celebration.

"It's like a flashback," said Mayor Gregor Robertson, who reflected on the days when the likes of the Beatles and Elvis Presley performed in Hastings Park, and on the B.C. Lions' Grey Cup championship of 1963.

Also present at the announcement were MP Stockwell Day and B.C. Tourism Minister Kevin Krueger. The federal and provincial governments will both make multimillion-dollar contributions to the centennial celebration.

"We're happy to be a strong partner to the PNE," said Day, who credited Canada's recovery from the economic crisis with creating the opportunity for the federal government to invest in events like the PNE centennial.

This year's Fair at the PNE will open Aug. 20 with a parade in downtown Vancouver — the first of its kind since 1995.

Big spender

- The PNE is spending around $6 million on its summer concert series, the most ever.

Crime bill costly, Page warns

A key element of the Conservative government's tough-on-crime initiative is going to cost taxpayers big time, the parliamentary budget officer warns in a scathing report.

Kevin Page says the Truth in Sentencing Act will cost the federal government alone about $1.8 billion in new-facility construction costs. That's an average of $363 million a year over five years.

"It's a lot of money in a period of time we're generating deficits," Page told a news conference yesterday.

The act limiting the credit a judge can allow for time served will add about 159 days to inmates' average sentences, Page said, bringing their average time in federal custody to 722 days from 563.

Page's report says the number of inmates in federal prisons at any one time will increase to 17,058 from 13,304. That increase will require construction of 4,189 additional federal prison cells, he says.

And Page cautions that's only the federal tab.

"If you look at average head counts, they are twice as big in the provincial system — 26,000 every year versus 13,000 at the federal level," he said.

"The provinces and the territories carry the weight of the correctional services system in Canada."

Page also said he knew incarceration was expensive but, when it came to calculating the figures and the total costs, he said "you get to big numbers in a hurry." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cost effective?

- The bill, a cornerstone of the Tories' tough-on-crime agenda, received royal assent last October. But the government has been criticized for launching its initiatives without carefully considering the costs.

Feds little help: Budget officer

G20 Summit

PROTESTS If something goes wrong, the Barrie, Ont., nerve centre will buzz.

The JIG is up, is how the phalanx of Canadian police and security forces converging for the G20 and G8 summits refers to it.

As in, the Joint Intelligence Group for the Integrated Security Unit is up in Barrie, where everyone will turn should any major attack happen during the summits.

Unless the threat is terrorism. And then the unfortunately named acronym of the DIC is in the SOC, as in the Domestic Incident Command is in the Special Operations Centre, applies. Which means command control goes to Toronto's RCMP-led terrorism unit that was created after the 9-11 attacks and is known as INSET, or Integrated National Security Enforcement Team.

Their headquarters, just north of the city, is supposed to be covert but became a rather poorly kept secret when the ribbon-cutting for the facility included a large contingent of Mounties in red serge posing on the lawn outside.

Keeping the acronyms straight is hard enough, but co-ordinating the various federal agencies and provincial and city police forces cannot be easy either.

The ISU is a force of 20,000 in charge of protecting dignitaries and providing security and includes members from the RCMP, OPP, Canadian Forces, private security, plus local police forces such as Toronto and Peel. Three senior officers from Toronto, the OPP and RCMP lead the JIG.

"It's a huge task, but we've been fortunate that the Olympics preceded this," ISU spokesperson Michele Paradis said yesterday.

"A lot of what worked with the Olympics has been put in place here as far as bringing in officers from not only the RCMP across the country but also other police services."

The ISU has requested media outlets keep the location of the Barrie nerve centre a secret since it would be an obvious target.

But it is just one of three locations being used. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Offshore drilling ban blocked

U.S. judge overturns moratorium put in place after Gulf spill

A U.S. federal judge has blocked a six-month moratorium on new deepwater drilling projects that was imposed in response to the massive oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico. The White House said immediately it would appeal the decision.

In a briefing, White House press secretary Robert Gibbs said U.S. President Barack Obama believes that until investigations can determine why the spill happened, continued deepwater drilling could expose workers and the environment to "a danger that the president does not believe we can afford."

Several companies that ferry people and supplies and provide other services to offshore drilling rigs had asked U.S. District Judge Martin Feldman in New Orleans to overturn the moratorium.

Obama's administration has halted the approval of any new permits for deepwater drilling and suspended drilling at 33 exploratory wells in the Gulf.

Suspension

- In late May, Obama moved to suspend all deepwater drilling in U.S. waters for six months. That halted exploration off the coast of Virginia, Alaska and throughout the Gulf Coast, and suspended operations at several already operational Gulf of Mexico rigs.

But Feldman ruled that the Interior Department failed to provide adequate reasoning for the moratorium, and accused it of appearing to assume that because one rig failed, all companies and rigs doing deepwater drilling pose an imminent danger.

Earlier yesterday, oil industry executives also took aim at the ban, saying the world doesn't have enough other sources of fuel to allow for the moratorium.

Steven Newman, president and CEO of Transocean Ltd., which owned the destroyed Deepwater Horizon rig, called Obama's ban "unnecessary."

The men, who are between 30 and 40 years old, and three of the women, who are under the age of 30, were sentenced to an unspecified number of lashes and one or two year prison terms each. The fourth woman, a minor, was sentenced to 80 lashes and was not sent to prison. The officials say the police saw the group partying until dawn last month. Saudi Arabia follows a strict interpretation of Islam that prohibits unrelated men and women from mingling.

Inflation sits right where BoC wants it

Not too hot, not too cold — Canada's inflation rate is about where Bank of Canada governor Mark Carney would want it leading into his next big decision on interest rates.

Statistics Canada reported yesterday that annualized inflation dipped fourtenths of a point to 1.4 per cent last month, and the central bank's core index slipped one notch to 1.8 per cent, well below the bank's preferred target of two per cent.

With temporary factors the only major contributors to above-target inflation, analysts said Carney may still go ahead with his second interest rate hike in two months on July 20, but it won't be because inflation is keeping him up at a night.

A BMO economist noted, however, that the Canada's central bank is still charging a very low rate for overnight loans — which are only available to a small number of very large financial institutions.

Canada's reputation on the line

TheWestView

What do you get for $930 million?

Well, you get 5,100 police officers, a three-metre high concrete and metal security fence, aerial surveillance, snipers, CCTV, even a water cannon.

What you may not get is security.

The federal government is throwing money at this week's G8/G20 summits at the breathtaking rate of $5,000 per second, yet the protest community, armed with the Internet, Facebook, YouTube and Twitter, is already unruly and disruptive — and it's only Wednesday.

There's that merry coalition of rights activists who occupied a downtown Toronto gas station Monday while police looked on ... nervously. And there's my favourite — the guy who was arrested by seven (!) police officers for not having a bell on his bike.

Is there no end to this wanton flouting of the law?

Still, police have plenty of cause to be nervous, especially as the virtual vacuum is getting increasingly vitriolic. Something called the Southern Ontario Anarchist Resistance is promising to attack the nucleus of global capitalism, in this case, Bay Street and environs. "Rest assured," warns SOAR's website, "we won't miss."

Just because their rhetoric is ridiculous does not mean the people who believe they have a divine right to riot are not dangerous. Certainly, the nucleus of global capitalism is taking the threat seriously as thousands of employees are being told to stay home Friday or keep a low profile.

Here in Vancouver, we've already had some experience with boneheaded breaches of security. During the Winter Olympics, a group of masked "anarchists" opened the Games by smashing windows and trashing cars as shocked families with strollers looked on.

The sad truth is that $2 billion in security could not protect Vancouver from random acts of vandalism. Ultimately, the Games turned out to be a triumph for Vancouver and Canada, but with a little more determination, the "anarchists" could have ruined the whole thing.

This weekend, the world's top 20 economic leaders will get together to try to work out solutions to the crisis that threatens the well-being of billions of people. Once again, Canada's ability to keep the peace is on the line.

For better or worse, the success of the G8/G20 rests on the sagging shoulders of the RCMP, Canada's once-proud police force. After the Air India and Robert Dziekanski Taser debacles, the RCMP could use a victory. Let's hope that with $930 million to spend, they will rediscover how to "maintiens le droit" in time for the weekend.

Word on the street: Do you think the G20 summit in Toronto is worth the more than $1-billion price tag?

Natalie Bocking
Mission

A: One billion dollars for a meeting with government officials is an absolutely ridiculous waste of money. If they want to work on diplomacy, we can do it in a much more fiscally responsible way.

Trevor Mackay
Vancouver

A: For what? That is my question. Does anyone truly care? I don't personally. With tax dollars, every year I keep getting screwed more and more. I don't think it's right.

Luciana Santos
Vancouver

A: You can't spend this kind of money for just an event. You have to put more money into health care and not about security for an event. Money just goes down the sink.

Ray Harris
Toronto

A: No, I think it's a travesty. We've got poor people starving who can't even afford to eat. If I wasn't busy, I'd be out on the streets protesting.

Grace Assouma
Ottawa

A: They should do it by video conference. That would avoid spending billions on security and terrifying the city.

Marco Montagne
Calgary

A: No, considering the global economic crisis we're in the middle of. G20 members should have to manage by example.

An ace and a curtsy

Serena, Nadal impressive in openers

American Serena Williams finished with an ace and a curtsy, showing she's ready for the Queen and much more at Wimbledon.

The defending champion won her opening match yesterday, relying on an overpowering serve to beat 17-year-old Michelle Larcher de Brito of Portugal 6-0, 6-4.

Williams won all 27 points on her first serve and hit 15 aces, the last on her final shot.

As the crowd applauded her victory, Williams curtsied, mindful Queen Elizabeth II is expected to visit Wimbledon for the first time since 1977 tomorrow.

Williams plays her second-round match that day and has been practising her curtsy.

"I want it to be more natural," she said. "Right now it feels really forced.

"Seems like I've never done a curtsy before, which may be true. But I'm looking forward to nailing it."

The Queen may also get to see top-ranked Rafael Nadal of Spain, who advanced by beating Japanese wildcard Kei Nishikori 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

Serena Williams serves yesterday during her first-round match against Michelle Larcher de Brito on Day 2 of Wimbledon.

It was Nadal's first match at Wimbledon since he became the 2008 champion; he missed last year's tournament because of knee tendinitis.

"For me it was a very special moment to come back to this, probably the nicest Centre Court in the world," Nadal said.

"I'm enjoying a lot to be back in my favourite tournament." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Canucks settle on new goalie coach

NHL Roland Melanson's track record of developing young netminders and his ability to work full-time factored in the Vancouver Canucks decision to hire him as the NHL team's goaltending coach.

"We feel we have one of the top goaltender tandems in the NHL," Laurence Gilman, Vancouver's assistant general manager, said yesterday. "We felt it was important at this junction to have a goaltending coach who was with us full-time."

Melanson will replace Ian Clark, who spent the last eight years working as a part-time consultant for the Canucks.

Clark, who lives in Dallas, was unable to relocate full-time to Vancouver for personal reasons, Gilman said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Henderson jersey goes past $1M

AUCTION Like his celebrated series-clinching goal, the bidding for Paul Henderson's legendary hockey jersey was a nail biter with one offer taking it past the $1 million US mark. Bids soared by hundreds of thousands of dollars with the 42nd coming in at $1,067,538 US.

Marc Juteau, president of Classic Auctions, said late yesterday that he expected the auction to continue until the early hours of today.

That is expected to make the famous 1972 Team Canada jersey the most expensive piece of hockey memorabilia item ever auctioned off. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Déjà vu for Les Bleus

France ends its Cup bid with another humiliating loss

GROUP A RESULT

South Africa 2 France 1

Strutting into the stadium dancing and singing, Bafana Bafana turned its final game at the World Cup into a rollicking party for all of South Africa. All that was missing was enough goals to see them through to the next round.

For France, yesterday's 2-1 loss completed a miserable meltdown.

With each team needing a big win to have any chance of moving on from Group A, both stuck to character. South Africa played eager and aggressive soccer. France imploded.

In the end, neither survived the group stage. But Bafana Bafana players left with their heads held high.

"The fighting spirit was there," said Katlego Mphela, who scored one of South Africa's goals. "It's a bit unfortunate, but we beat France in the World Cup."

Bongani Khumalo scored in the 20th minute when he outjumped France midfielder Abou Diaby to knock a cross from Siphiwe Tshabalala into the net with his shoulder. Mphela made it 2-0 just 17 minutes later, outmuscling defender Gael Clichy to reach a low cross from Tsepo Masilela and knock the ball across the line. Substitute Florent Malouda scored for France in the 70th.

France leaves the tournament with a point from a 0-0 tie with Uruguay, and just one goal. Worse, it has become the shame of a proud country.

On Tuesday, the 2006 runner-up was forced to play with 10 men after Yoann Gourcuff was ejected for elbowing Macbeth Sibaya in the 25th minute.

French soccer has been a mess ever since sports daily L'Equipe printed details of striker Nicolas Anelka's expletive-filled rant at coach Raymond Domenech during halftime of last Thursday's 2-0 loss to Mexico.

The French soccer federation sent Anelka home Saturday and the French players protested by refusing to practise the following day. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

World Cup

Expected to advance with ease, England and U.S. face possible untimely exits

Group C was supposed to be a romp through the first round of the World Cup for the English and Americans.

That romp has turned into an obstacle course, and both teams have stumbled. Although each can advance to the second round today with wins, such victories hardly are givens considering how they have played.

The U.S. fell behind to both England and Slovenia before rallying for two draws. England also has two ties, the second with Algeria causing all kinds of angst back home.

Algeria's hopes

- If the Desert Foxes win and England loses, the Algerians move on.

Not since 1958 in Sweden has England failed to advance past the group stage once it's qualified for the tournament. The Americans have not been so successful, but their hopes were high when they came to South Africa after finishing second to Brazil at the Confederations Cup a year ago.

A loss to Algeria (CBC, 9 a.m. PT, tape delay) would eliminate the Americans far earlier than most expected, and even a draw wouldn't be enough if England defeats Slovenia (CBC, 7 a.m., live).

Also to be seen today are Germany against Ghana (CBC, 11:15 a.m., live) and Australia vs. Serbia (CBC, 7 p.m., tape delay).

Advantage Unlimited

ROB BEINTEMA
for Metro Canada

Dirt seems to be magnetically attracted to Jeeps. Which is understandable when you consider the Jeeps's off-road pedigree, and the 70 year bloodline of this battlefield-born, all-purpose sport ute.

The Jeep Wrangler is easily recognized as the "classic Jeep." The "Unlimited" name refers to the recent addition of a stretched-out, four-dour version that first debuted as a 2007 model at the New York auto show.

At first glance, the Jeep Wrangler Unlimited might not be considered particularly unique since, despite its larger dimensions, it meticulously follows the old formula and traditional styling cues of the original two-door.

But Chrysler boasts that it is the only four-door, five-passenger SUV convertible on the market. And that specialized, SUV market, with true off-road emphasis, is fast becoming a monopoly, thanks to the thinning of the ranks — the diminishment of HUMMER and the uncertain future of Toyota's FJ Cruiser.

With more room for passengers and payload, the four-door formula seems to be working. In fact, I'd come to believe that I was seeing more Jeep Wrangler Unlimited four-doors out there than original two-door versions.

The 2010 Jeep Wrangler Unlimited does have the familiar 3.8-litre V6 engine making 202 hp and 237 lb/ft. Those numbers sound diminutive, considering the Unlimited's 1957 kg curb weight but the old OHV V6 responded with a roar and I enjoyed it, probably because I was making the most of the power through a long-throw six-gear manual tranny that chucks delightfully into gear and vibrates at speed like a drunk at a revival meeting.

2010 Jeep Wrangler Unlimited Rubicon

Type: Four-door sport utility
Price: Unlimited $24,495, Unlimited Rubicon$30,995
Engine: 3.8-litre OHV V6 (202 hp, 237 lb-ft of torque).
Fuel Economy: 14.1/10.8L/-100km (city/hwy) (manual);

Highlights

- Only four-door, five-passenger convertible SUV on the market
- Traditional styling

The Jeep Unlimited Rubicon, the ultimate expression of Jeep's four-door version of the classic original, has been upgraded for 2010 with a long list of standard and available features.

Being happy at work

RAFAEL BRUSILOW
for Metro Canada

Robert Holden wants you to be happy.

The celebrated author, lecturer, philosopher and director of The Happiness Project and Success Intelligence has spent his career teaching people how to be happy, and how to leverage that happiness into being more successful in their lives and workplaces. His books and seminars have been featured on Oprah and BBC television and he has worked with major organizations like Dove, Virgin, IBM, Coca-Cola and Unilever to help their employees live better, more productive lives.

He says the value of true happiness is that it energizes people and gives them the tools to be more successful.

"Happiness is like an internal compass — it helps you to be authentic and enables you to be your best self. When you're drawing on an innate happiness, that helps you to be more successful and people who are happier to begin with do tend to be more successful in the long run," Holden said.

Holden dedicates his work to his parents, both of whom led difficult lives. His mother battled crippling depression and his father struggled with alcoholism, eventually leaving the family to become homeless when Holden was 15.

"When that happens, you start to question what is happiness, what is success. The Happiness Project belongs to my mum and Success Intelligence belongs to my dad. This is my spiritual journey," Holden said.

Robert Holden's five happiness tips

1. Build a definition of success: "We live faster than ever before but I don't think we necessarily live better. If your definition of success is isn't clear, your direction in life won't be clear."
2. Beware of chronic busyness: "One of the biggest blocks to genuine happiness is being permanently busy — we're too busy to be happy, too busy to be successful and too busy to be with our family. We've confused busyness with success but being busy is not a competitive advantage."
3. Avoid destination addiction: "Destination addiction is when you define happiness and success only in future terms — you're racing towards some imaginary finish line but you never get there. Of course you need a future goal but a successful life can only be the one you're living now."
4. Don't constantly go it alone: "If a project or situation feels like too much to do, you're not meant to do it on your own."
5. Give back by making yourself happy first: "There's a huge relationship between happiness and altruism. When you follow your joy, you become inspired and your happiness can spread to other people. I truly believe when you're happy, you make the world a better place."

The Upside of Irrationality
Author: Dan Ariely

Price: $29.99

CRAIG LUND
for Metro Canada

As members of the human race, we pride our selves in being sensible decision makers. According to social scientist Dan Ariely, author of the wildly successful book Predictably Irrational, we are in fact very irrational decision makers. Having seen Dan Ariely speak in the past, I was thrilled to hear he would be in town promoting his latest book, The Upside of Irrationality.

In his latest book he covers a number of his research findings including why large bonuses make CEO's less productive — the assumption being that "they will be motivated to work and perform at very high levels." Turns out this is not accurate, and the increased performance requirements and stress that are tied to these bonuses actually produces poor results.

Ariely's approach to including his own life experiences and inquisitiveness make for a highly fascinating and entertaining read.

Fired over looks not wrongful dismissal

WorkplaceLaw

"Most employees believe they cannot be fired without a good reason. They are mistaken. Non-union employees have no 'right' to continued employmen."

Reading last week's headlines about the case of Debrahlee Lorenzana, the New York banker claiming she was fired because her good looks distracted her male colleagues, raised an alarm as to the public's various misconceptions of critical issues in workplace law. Here are just a few of them.

In one article, the author claimed that Lorenzana's wrongful dismissal case against her employer sparked a debate over "workplace sexual harassment." Turning this case into an issue of sexual harassment could indeed be an interesting development in workplace law — except that it is wrong.

The Supreme Court has defined sexual harassment as a conduct of a sexual nature that adversely affects the employee's job or work environment. Lorenzana claims she was fired because she refused to change her attire when asked by her employer. So her claims are not really based on sexual harassment at all.

Was this a wrongful dismissal? Most employees believe they cannot be fired without a good reason. They are mistaken. Non-union employees have no "right" to continued employment, however long or meritorious their service. They can be fired as long as they are given severance. Whether Lorenzana's employer wanted to fire her because it didn't like her or how she dressed would make no difference as long as it paid her severance.

Is it discriminatory to rely on looks when firing an employee? In another article, the author suggested that if Lorenzana was treated differently because of her appearance, it could constitute discrimination under human rights laws. This would also be a major development in human rights law, except that it is also wrong. "Physical appearance" by itself is a not a prohibited ground of discrimination in any Canadian jurisdiction, unless a person's appearance is being judged due to a personal characteristic such as race or colour.

That is, while it would be contrary to human rights laws to judge an employee based on her colour, whether or not she is attractive receives no protection at all.

Two-wheeled wonders

Italy's winding trails will lead you through the breathtaking countryside

SUSAN GREENWOOD
Metro World News

"I hope you don't think we're crazy," sang Marina as she shimmied her way past our table, boldly leading the second conga of the night over the pool and back into the bar.

Unfortunately all the signs were pointing to the Hotel Belvedere and its host being just that.

Firstly, this was Riccione on the Italian Riviera, a place where people are far too busy being beautiful and sipping Prosecco in beachfront bars to host wild parties with folks they've only just met.

And secondly every single person currently swaying dangerously close to the water's edge had spent the day cycling anything from 90-125km with ex-pro road racers acting as tour guides among the vine-laced rollercoaster terrain of Emiglia-Romagna.

Where did they get the strength for dancing? Watching the speed with which barman Maxim was serving up potent Negroni's it became clearer.

The Belvedere is part of the Italy Bike Hotels consortium — a collection of top notch hotels which cater for cyclists.

Yes they wash your Lycra daily, yes there is a spa to recover in, yes the food — including local speciality spaghetti allo scoglio (spaghetti of the clifftops) — is delicious, and yes you get the pick of high-end racing bikes for the week, with mechanics on hand. But no the staff won't push you up the hills.

METRO WORLD NEWS

You have to be a little crazy to ride Italy's winding trails.

The idea is that each day you ride hard, then play harder Italian style — Campari, seaside, shopping.

The rides range from not very hard to very very hard indeed, a minor distinction lost on anyone who believes 25km/h should be a speed reserved for motorized vehicles.

This area of Italy is steeped in cycling lore making riding here akin to walking in the footsteps of giants. Marco Pantani — who won the Tour de France and the Giro d'Italia in 1998 — was born just up the road in pretty Cesenatico — a bustling fishing town.

Each year the Pantanissima memorial race traces the routes Marco trained on in the surrounding hills.

And the hills aren't as brutal as you'd think, the guides interspersing the inclines with panoramic descents hugging the coastline, coffee stops in crumbling hilltop villages and rolling routes through vistas burdened with historic beauty.

Our motley peloton made up of cycle enthusiasts (Lycra is a given) from across the globe definitely balanced out pain with gain.

But then they were crazy.

2. Emilia-Romagna: Mountain bike and street bike routes in Emilia-Romagna, Marche and Tuscany

You're Havana a laugh today

PAUL BALDWIN
Metro World News

The capital of Cuba is one of the world's most effortlessly cool places. The politics are edgy, the dancing impulsive and the people hugely friendly.

And it's still an unbelievable bargain. Here's why to stay, eat and go while on a budget in Havana.

BUDGET $50
STAY
Hotetur Deauville

Located along the Malecón seafront, Hotetur is not a thing of beauty but good grief it's cheap.

Rooms area available from as little as $20 per night and it has sea front access, rooftop pool, gorgeous views, decent food and a disco.

Five minutes from the old town.

(Hotetur.com/Deauville)

BUDGET $50
EAT
La Guarida

This small three-roomed restaurant at the top of three flights of stairs is Cuba's most famous paladar as it was in the movie Strawberry and Chocolate.

Hip, funky and great cheap food — you'll get your fill without emptying your wallet.

(laguarida.com)

GO
El Prado

Well, actually El Prado is a wide avenue linking Malecón with the centre and it's one of the best places to go for a stroll.

For zero outlay you'll mix with locals, get a real feel for the place and at Malecón you get a busy seafront to grab a beer and people-watch.

Blow the bank

- Grand, elegant and expensive, Café del Oriente is excellent if you have a few bucks to blow. The Filet Mignon is a work of genius.

Many consider bull-fighting, not soccer, Spain's national sport.

Taking Spain's capital bull by the horns

ROMINA MCGUINNESS
Metro World News

It's not for everyone but Madrid is by far one of the must-do destinations while travelling in Europe.

Here's a few reasons why.

Why go now?

Winters in Madrid may be bitterly cold, but the continental climate means that summertime is hot hot hot. Parks, fountains, markets, flamenco, tapas … the list of things to do in Spain's eccentric capital is endless. Chic, shabby, quiet, noisy, historical, modern — this is a city where there is no pattern and where you must go with the flow.

Bring on the bullfight

Madrid's main bullring, Ventas, is the best place to come and witness what most locals consider to be a national sport. Throughout the summer, the ring doubles up as a concert venue, hosting gigs for international artists such as Shakira. (las-ventas.com)

Shopping

In terms of fashion, Madrid is an eclectic clash of contrasts. For the super chic (mainly the upper class) Calle Serrano is the place to be. Cartier, Gucci, Chanel and the Latin equivalent of Barney's or Harrods, el Corte Ingles can all be found here.

Nightlife

Line your stomach with some tapas then weave your way around the brightly lit streets.

If you see club promoters stand outside shouting "chupito, chupito" don't get scared, that's the term for liquor shots — given out free to passersby as an incentive to get them inside.

Respect to Utrecht

Find out why it can compete with Amsterdam on any day

As far as cities go, Utrecht has all of the things of any major city centre in Europe but without the over congestion of the usual tourists.

LAUREN ROMANILLOS

Utrecht is second only to Amsterdam when it comes to partying, shopping, chilling and generally hanging out.

It makes for a brilliant European getaway. And if you're in doubt, follow the tourists — they're always right.

Brasserie Domplein offers a fine lunch (sandwiches for about $5) and is also visited by locals. Want to go fancier? Head to Karel V, in an old monastery. It has a Michelin star, and you'll pay for it, but it's very nice and accessible in jeans.

Get prepared for the beach

Before you hit the beach this summer, have a look at these gadgets to help your day.

Discovery Trekking Towel
$24.

It's pretty hard to make towels sexy but Discovery Trekking are having a go. We tried the Ultralite a "wicking" towel that uses hi-tech fabric to pull the moisture from your skin where it spreads across the fibres rather than pooling like with a cotton towel allowing super-fast drying. We tried it and it works well. It's also treated with an anti-bacterial agent so you can stuff it in your rucksack confident it will remain mould-free. Very lightweight, rolls up very small and also boasts sun protection between 15 and 40 SPF depending on color. (discovery-trekking.com)

Firebox Anti-tech fraud wallet

There's a theme developing here — because, like the towels, this wallet doesn't look too startling. But it has been designed t counter the growing menace of 'RFID skimmers'. These crooks use hi-tech scanners to secretly probe your cards for personal details perhaps while you sit on the beach.

But this billfold has a built in Faraday's Cage which blocks the scanner's signal leaving your cards and data intact. Blocks low and high frequency skimmers. Oh and it'll hold your cash too. (firebox.com)

Break out of your old mould in Brussels

PAUL BALDWIN
Metro World News

Whoever said Brussels was boring had clearly never been.

Here is a list of the things to see and do while there.

SEE
Tiny Trickle
The city's very own "cheeky boy" is the Manneken Pis, a bronze statue depicting a boy peeing into the fountain basin below.

HEAR
Jukebox tunes
The dreamy, den-like interior of this former brothel on Rue de la Violette fabulous.

The crowd is mostly bohemian arty types without a care in the world, although the clientele can get a little "risqué" later into the night.

EAT
Moules Frites at Au Vieux Bruxelles
The brasserie has been serving French fries and mussels since 1882.

Set your table manners aside.

Eat the first few with your fingers and once you have a couple of spare shells, use these as utensils to pinch the rest. Then get into a beer.

(auvieuxbruxelles.com)

Beer
The main square, 'Grand Place' is where people go mingle at café terraces.

The Belgian love their beer and there are hundreds of varieties to choose from.

Go local and you can't go wrong.

Try Lapin à la Kriek, a hearty rabbit stew flavored with beer too.

Vampires or werewolves: Pick a side

STEVE GOW
for Metro Canada

If the latest installment of the popular Twilight franchise is any indication, vampires and werewolves are the hottest thing to hit Hollywood since Universal Studios burnt to the ground.

So why are two classic monsters creating such a buzz in 2010?

"They're both monster figures obviously but they're quite different in nature," explained University of Toronto Cinema Studies Director Charlie Keil. He points out that in their differences, werewolves and vampires do have an affinity.

Sure, the vampire systemically draws on blood for existence and werewolves are more about the id "manifesting itself in an animal form so there's no way to suppress (it)," insisted Keil. "The idea there is that the monster really can't control itself."

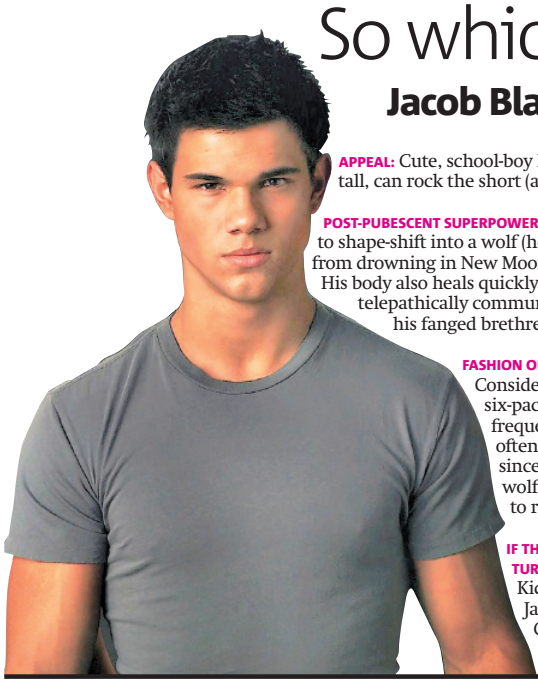
Twilight flips these ideas a bit giving the werewolf some measure of control and repressing the vampire figure: "It doesn't want to carry out the lethal (action)," says Keil.

While in Eclipse these monsters oppose each other however, their common struggle has more to do with the sexualization of these characters.

"(Vampires and werewolves) are more aligned because they both do have an undercurrent of sexuality linking them," said Keil. "Only with (Twilight), its with the sex in brackets … it's a vampire without fangs basically; and a wolfman who won't really tear you apart."

So which team are you on?

Jacob Black



APPEAL: Cute, school-boy looks; hard abs; very tall, can rock the short (and long) hair.

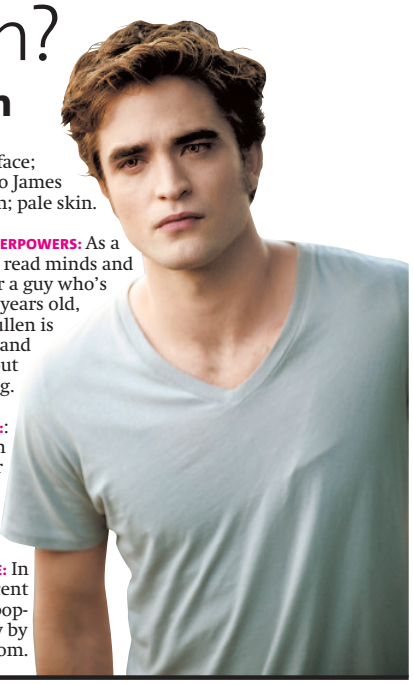
POST-PUBESCENT SUPERPOWERS: Jacob has the ability to shape-shift into a wolf (he even saved Bella from drowning in New Moon — good dog!) His body also heals quickly and he can telepathically communicate with his fanged brethren.

FASHION OF THE BEASTS: Considering Jacob's six-pack, shirts are frequently removed; often dressed-down since morphing into a wolf tends to shred the duds to rags anyhow.

IF THE PAST DETERMINES THE FUTURE: Earlier this year, the Kids Choice Awards chose Jacob and Bella as Cutest Couple over Edward and Bella. Ouch! Poor Eddie!

Read an interview with Kristen Stewart in Friday's Metro

Edward Cullen



APPEAL: Pouty face; often compared to James Dean; pale skin.

POST-PUBESCENT SUPERPOWERS: As a vampire, Edward can read minds and will be 17 forever. For a guy who's actually close to 100 years old, the handsome Cullen is quick on his feet and can get buy without breathing.

FASHION OF THE BEASTS:: Wears cool colors, often multi-layered (hoodies under peacoats, button-down shirts) all alluding to his blood-sucking secret.

IF THE PAST DETERMINES THE FUTURE: In 2009, Team Edward won 62 per cent of the vote over Team Jacob on a popularity survey by PollDaddy.com.

Cruise returns to action

STEVE GOW

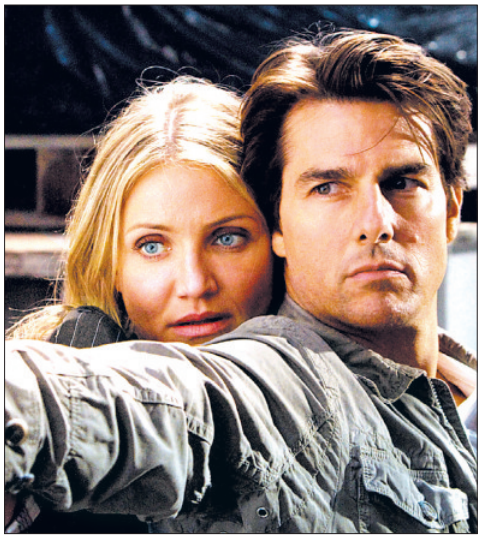
Knight and Day

Director: James Mangold
Stars: Tom Cruise, Cameron Diaz
Classification: PG
Rating: ⊕⊕⊕



Cameron Diaz and Tom Cruise star in Knight and Day.

REVIEW After Tom Cruise's much-talked about performance as balding Tropic Thunder character Les Grossman at this month's MTV Movie Awards, rumours began speculating that, not only are there plans for an upcoming Grossman movie, but that Tommy may finally be cruising back to the A-list.

The truth is, he still has to get through the release of Knight and Day.

Luckily, the blockbuster may just be the soft antidote Cruise needed for a reintroduction into society. A high-paced buddy actioner co-starring Cameron Diaz, the film may not offset the actor's ebbing public image to the degree that Les Grossman does, but as secret operative Roy Miller, Cruise does display a certain sense of levity.

Knight and Day doesn't hold back on action either. The movie almost instantly begins with Miller and innocent accessory June (Diaz, playing hysterical) cryptically meeting while boarding a doomed plane.

Soon however, June finds herself caught up in Miller's mission — to protect the inventor of a truly everlasting battery — an undertaking that finds the pair running from double-agents and arms dealers, being chased on motorcycles alongside charging bulls in Spain, attacked on a train in the Austrian Alps and bombed on Miller's own private island in the Azores. Yes, this international espionage has all the subtlety of James Bond wearing an "I'm With Stupid" t-shirt.

Director James Mangold (Walk the Line) is clearly conscious of the fact this is a popcorn movie and thereby makes no attempt at establishing plausibility, creating surprise or taking it serious, which actually helps make the film work. Knight and Day only aims to deliver passable charm with action delivered way over-the-top. Not quite Les Grossman over-the-top, but perhaps just enough to get Tom Cruise halfway back to Hollywood's A-list.

The Abbotsford, B.C., band will now be known only as You Say Party, and will round out their lineup with two members from Vancouver band Gang Violence.

Clifford died of a massive brain hemorrhage in April after collapsing onstage during a show at Vancouver's Rickshaw Theatre. He was 30 years old. There is another change, as well: keyboardist Krista Loewen has decided not to continue with the group.

Cougar Town
It's in the DNA or something for mothers to embarrass their teenage offspring. And Jules (Courteney Cox) is no exception. When Travis (Dan Byrd) brings his new girlfriend, Kylie (Spencer Locke), for Thanksgiving, his mom proceeds to blab some personal information that makes him want to hide under the table. Bobby and Grayson (Brian Van Holt, Josh Hopkins) find they have something in common in "Here Comes My Girl." 9:30 PM on ABC; 10:31 PM on CITY

The Descent
Those crazy cavers. Natalie Mendoza stars as the leader of a caving expedition that turns deadly after a rock slide. No, it's not the rocks that get 'em. It's the carnivorous creatures that are in the cave with them. Shauna Macdonald, Alex Reid, Saskia Mulder, MyAnna Buring and Nora-Jane Noone star in this 2005 horror film. 10 PM on SHO

James moving to Austin

HE'S JUST NOT GETTING THE HINT Jesse James is reportedly moving to Austin, Texas, so that his kids can be closer to Sandra Bullock, who calls the city home.

But the Oscar-winning actress' friends aren't thrilled about the idea, according to Popeater.

"Of all the towns in America, he had to pick the one place that Sandra loves?" a source says. "He knows that Austin is her home, the one place in the world where Sandy can be 'Sandy' rather than 'Sandra Bullock, the movie star.' When is this fool going to stop hurting her?"

Paquin fiancé isn't fazed by bisexuality

A MAN WHO DOESN'T MIND A BISEXUAL WOMAN, SHOCKING! While the world may have been surprised to learn that Anna Paquin is bisexual, there's at least one person who wasn't.

"It doesn't change anything. I'm proud of who she is," her fiancé and True Blood co-star, Stephen Moyer, tells Playboy magazine.

"I've never been in a relationship before in which, literally within the first three days, all the cards were laid out. It wasn't something that was kept from me. I condone what she has done 100 per cent, and it's her business to talk about it, not mine."

It annoys you when people don't do their job the way they should, and you will find it hard not to let that annoyance show today.

TAURUS ♉
APRIL 21-MAY 21
The Sun at odds with Jupiter today will teach you some kind of lesson, most likely about expecting too much of other people.

GEMINI ♊
MAY 22-JUNE 21
Today someone you think you can trust is trying to trick you, so be on your guard and accept nothing you are told at face value.

CANCER ♋
JUNE 22-JULY 22
Your patience may be wearing thin with someone but don't let it show. They are hoping you will get angry. Don't fall for it.

LEO ♌
JULY 23-AUG 23
There is no point blaming yourself for something that went wrong: the planets indicate it was bound to happen sooner or later.

VIRGO ♍
AUG 24-SEPT 22
This may be one of the most productive times of the year but before you throw yourself into a new project make sure you know what you are getting in to.

LIBRA ♎
SEPT 23-OCT 23
You need to be flexible today. Someone you deal with is about to disrupt your plans, but that will only be a problem if your plans are too rigid.

SCORPIO ♏
OCT 24-NOV 22
You want it all and you want it now but before that can happen there is one thing you MUST get sorted. You know what it is, so stop dreaming and start doing.

SAGITTARIUS ♐
NOV 23-DEC 21
You may be tempted to change your ways to keep up with the latest fad or fashion, but don't do it. Why be one of the crowd when you can be an individual?

CAPRICORN ♑
DEC 22-JAN 20
Don't take it too hard if a person you want to get close to rejects you. They can see what you cannot: you are too different to form a lasting partnership.

Have you been working hard for no good reason? If so, it's time to make a break and try your luck in a new environment. Change is your friend.
